M.Ed. Cohort for Instructional Design & Technology Fall 2016

The Instructional Technology program at Georgia Southern University is starting a new cohort in our fully online M.Ed. program for professionals interested in Instructional Design & Technology in contexts outside of p-12 schools. This cohort will be an excellent choice for professionals working with Instructional or Educational Technology at colleges and universities, corporate training, military training, medical education, and other e-learning or training contexts.

For information and advising about this cohort, contact Dr. Charles Hodges, at:
chodges@georgiasouthern.edu.

Apply by July 21, 2016 to start the Fall 2016 Cohort
