Licensed practical nurses and paramedics can choose to apply to the traditional associate degree nursing program or the professional mobility programs (LPN-RN Bridge and Paramedic-RN Bridge). To see the admission criteria and application process for both programs, go to the Associate of Science in Nursing Program webpage and then click on ASN – Traditional Program or ASN – Bridge Program.

In the bridge programs, LPNs and paramedics take NURS 1300 and NURS 1400 to exempt the first five nursing courses (NURS 1000, NURS 1001, NURS 1002, NURS 1100 and NURS 1200) of the traditional program and reduce the length of their program to three semesters. Upon successful completion of NURS 1300, the student will receive a grade of K for NURS 1000 and NURS 1001. Upon successful completion of NURS 1400, the student will receive a grade of K for NURS 1002, NURS 1100 and NURS 1200. The LPNs and paramedics then join the traditional students for the final two semesters.
